

Technical drawing of a circular machine component. The drawing shows a circle with a central hole. A dimension line indicates a radius of $\phi 141.8$. The component has several mounting brackets or flanges around its perimeter, including a large one on the right and smaller ones on the top, bottom, and left. A vertical dashed line passes through the center.

